The Health Media invites all healthcare professionals to attend our upcoming webinars

Dear New Zealand Doctor subscriber,

We are excited to announce the launch of our ELearning webinar series.

Attend the first three webinars and go into the draw to win an Apple iPad*.

Our first webinar is:

"Update on interventions to improve glycaemic control in type 2 diabetes"

Dr Gary Kilov, Associate Professor,
Clinic Director, Launceston Diabetes, Tasmania
Wednesday 14 October
7:00pm – 8:00pm.

This is an accredited webinar. After attending the webinar, you will receive a short survey and a link to the ELearning course so you can complete your CPD credits/points/hours.

Click on the register here button below to secure your place. You will then receive an email containing all the details of how to access the webinar.

Learning Objectives for Webinar 1:

1. Detail the rationale behind timely and effective treatment escalation in type 2 diabetes mellitus (T2DM)
2. Understand T2DM treatment inertia and its contributing factors
3. Individualise glycaemic targets and personalise therapies according to clinical and personal factors
